ALTIORA LEARNING SYSTEMS EXPANDS ITS DIGITAL PRESENCE ACROSS MAJOR SOCIAL MEDIA PLATFORMS

Altiora Learning Systems strengthens its academic intelligence ecosystem through LinkedIn, TikTok, Pinterest and Instagram.

Edison, New Jersey — June 10, 2026 — Altiora Learning Systems, an academic intelligence ecosystem powered by Zapzest Corp., today announced the expansion of its official social media presence across multiple digital platforms, including LinkedIn, TikTok, Pinterest and Instagram.

The expanded platform presence marks an important step in Altiora Learning Systems' mission to support learners through structured academic performance, cognitive development, language mastery, vocabulary growth, communication confidence, and next-generation learning intelligence.

Altiora Learning Systems is built around a clear principle: education is not only about receiving information. Real learning requires clarity, retention, reasoning, practice, communication, and the ability to apply knowledge with confidence.

Through its growing digital presence, Altiora will share educational insights, learning strategies, academic performance content, vocabulary development, communication support, platform updates, visual learning resources, and brand announcements connected to the broader Altiora ecosystem.

The official Altiora Learning Systems social media platforms include:

LinkedIn:

"Altiora Learning Systems was created to help learners strengthen how they think, communicate, retain knowledge, and perform," said a spokesperson for Altiora Learning

Systems. “Expanding across social media allows Altiora to reach students, families, educators, and lifelong learners where learning conversations are already happening.”

The social media expansion will support Altiora’s broader ecosystem, including Voxence, Altiora Ascend, Altiora Lexis, and Altiora Intelligence. Together, these platforms represent Altiora’s commitment to academic performance intelligence, structured learning, language development, vocabulary mastery, and measurable growth.

Altiora’s presence across multiple platforms is designed to make its educational mission more accessible, visible, and engaging. LinkedIn will support professional and academic updates. TikTok and Instagram will help deliver short-form educational content. Pinterest will support visual learning resources and branded educational materials.

As Altiora Learning Systems continues to grow, its social media channels will serve as key communication points for platform announcements, educational content, learning resources, and future ecosystem developments.
